

My Fashion Diaries:

Jill Jeanine

Jennifer Aniston, hit star of Friends, wows the crowd with her never-ending collection of fan-favorite outfits.

It's the year 1994, the fifth episode of Friends has just come out and my friends and I are huddled around the television waiting to see the newest episode. My friends and I pick out our outfits based off Rachel, of course, for the party we are ecstatic to go to this weekend. All we need is the perfect plaid skirt to make our outfit complete with a pair of tights and a cute little button-up top.

“It goes to show that an LBD is pure wardrobe magic no matter what the decade.”

Written by Grace Cook on Net-a-Porter website

As soon as the iconic show Friends began, Jennifer Aniston, known for her character named Rachel Green, every female looks up to her for the latest trends in everything from her fashion sense to her hair cut. Rachel's fashion immediately became the central focus of the show. Rachel Green was the fashion icon that started many of the trends that we wear today. The first garment that started this phenomenon was Rachel's wedding dress in season one episode one that so many girls yearn for. Since Rachel works for Ralph Lauren throughout the show, Ralph Lauren even created a collection dedicated to her character. A few of the key items that women could not wait to get their hands on are turtlenecks,

4 characters that I wanted to be exactly like as I was growing up through the years

Am I the only person that wanted to be just like many of the celebrities I watched and admired as I was growing up?

Sarah Jessica Parker, hit star of Sex and the City, portrays herself in these outfits with a funky, but fresh color palette.

knee-high boots, and crazy prints, such as leopard.

The queen of New York City, also known as Sarah Jessica Parker's character as Carrie Bradshaw in Sex and the City, has strut the streets of New York City in statement pieces that have females in awe. The variety of prints and textures that her garments encompass have influenced females to pop out in clothing that make them feel both comfortable, and confident. Fur coats and heels galore, she has all the style and glamour going on.

“I used to always think that I wasn't one of those sexy, pretty women but I decided to try copying Carrie anyway.”

Written by Naomi May on STYLIST website

It's Gossip Girl here. Serena Vanderwoodsen, played by Blake Lively on the hit television show Gossip Girl, has the wardrobe every girl aspires to have. From the never-ending amount of jewelry to the colorful, luxurious outfits she wears, girls all around the world wish they had the spending money that Serena has. The elegant style in which she dresses is inspiring and is brought into many of the styles that carry on from season to season.

Finally, Alexa Demie, also known as Maddy Perez, is the latest fashion icon that every girl has been raving over, as she is the star of the latest hit television show Euphoria. She is not in the slightest bit afraid of wearing all kinds of funky, unique garments with a variety of cut-outs and colors. She puts a twist on fashion for the younger crowd to portray trendy, sexy ways to dress. Her confidence pours out in her outfits, and females aspire to always be on her level.

Can you spot how many trends these icons have introduced that are in your own closet, and you don't even realize? You are trendier than you know!

Alexa Demie, hit female star of Euphoria, is the most recent female icon in the fashion industry, bringing a variety of silhouettes into the confidence of her everyday wear.

Blake Lively, hit star of Gossip Girl, waltzes the streets of the Big Apple in her designer outfits in the warmer seasons throughout the show, along with some fashionable accessories.

Hottest looks from 2 of these dashing celebs

A cute little sweater and overall moment, what else can we ask for! (Season 1, Ep 2)

Maddy would never ring in the new year in a mediocre outfit, this dress screams sexy! (Season 2, Episode 1)

